

Protecht Health is a HIPAA-compliant iPhone app for sharing sexual health results that can't be edited. The app brings in STI and HIV test results and vaccination records from a person's healthcare provider through Apple Health, keeps them encrypted on the phone, and lets that person show a partner, for 60 seconds, in person or with a link. Protecht doesn't store your results, and sharing HIV status in the app is always free. Founded in 2025 by David Leder, Protecht Health is independent, self-funded, and based in San Jose, California.

KEY FACTS

- Founded 2025 by David Leder; independent and self-funded, San Jose, CA
- iPhone only, iOS 18.6+; results for 10 STIs (incl. HIV) plus COVID-19 and vaccination records
- Read-only 60-second view; receiving a share and sharing HIV status are always free
- Launched App Store June 29, 2026; Protecht 2.0 in August 2026
- Results are encrypted on the phone before they're shared; Protecht doesn't store them
- HIPAA-compliant, with an independent security review completed before launch

"Your results belong on your phone, not on our servers, and you should be the one who decides who sees them."
